Putting Victims First

The Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) shares your mission and annually recognizes individuals and organizations that demonstrate outstanding service in supporting victims and victim services. We invite you to submit a nomination for one or more of six awards—the National Crime Victim Service Award, the Award for Professional Innovation in Victim Services, the Special Courage Award, the Volunteer for Victims Award, the Crime Victims Fund Award, and the Federal Service Award. In making your nominations, we encourage you to recognize programs and individuals who have made significant contributions to the crime victims field. Recipients of the awards will be honored in Washington, D.C., as part of the federal commemoration of National Crime Victims' Rights Week.

About the Office for Victims of Crime

OVC was created in 1984 and formally established by a 1988 amendment to the Victims of Crime Act of 1984 to support services for crime victims and training and technical assistance for the field. For more information about OVC, call the OVC Resource Center at 1-800-627-6872 (TTY 1-877-712-9279) or visit the OVC home page at www.ojp.usdoj.gov/ovc.

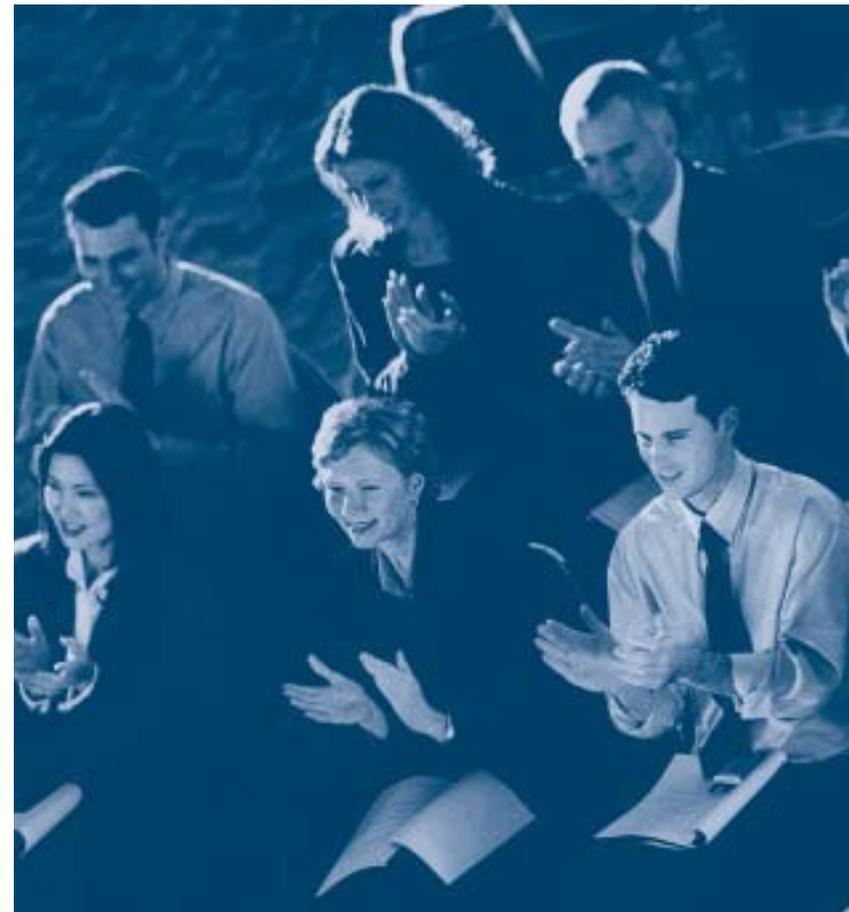

National Crime Victims' Rights Week

In 1981, President Reagan proclaimed the first Victims' Rights Week, calling for "a renewed emphasis on, and an enhanced sensitivity to, the rights of victims." Each April since, communities across the Nation have held public rallies, candlelight vigils, and a host of commemorative activities to promote awareness of victims' rights and needs. The federal observance of National Crime Victims' Rights Week culminates in an awards ceremony to honor individuals and programs for their outstanding efforts on behalf of victims.

Significance of the Awards

As the discipline of crime victim services has grown over the years, so has the number of remarkable individuals and organizations that significantly contribute to its success. Today, the field includes countless people and programs that, through vision, action, and leadership, have improved the lives of victims in the aftermath of crime.

Each year, through the prestigious National Crime Victim Service Award, the U.S. Attorney General and the President honor extraordinary individuals and programs who provide services to victims of crime. OVC, within the U.S. Department of Justice, coordinates the submission of nominations for programs and individuals whose work has been particularly innovative and pioneering and for those who exemplify the long-term commitment that characterizes many of our Nation's victim service providers, some of whom are also victims of crime.

The Award for Professional Innovation in Victim Services was instituted in 2001 in memory of an OVC employee, Susan Laurence, who helped professionals who had not traditionally served victims to develop effective victim responses. In her honor, this award recognizes a program, organization, or individual who has helped to expand the reach of victims' rights and services.

The Special Courage Award recognizes an individual or individuals who have demonstrated extraordinary bravery in the aftermath of a crime or who have performed a courageous act on behalf of a victim or potential victim. The award may honor a victim or survivor who has exhibited exceptional perseverance or determination in dealing with his or her own victimization, or it may acknowledge an individual who has acted bravely either to aid a victim or to prevent a victimization.

Many of the dedicated men and women who serve crime victims do so without compensation, in addition to their other responsibilities. The Volunteer for Victims Award honors one such individual for his or her selfless efforts to reach out to victims. Examples of volunteerism include but are not limited to crisis counseling, transportation, court accompaniment, food delivery, and emotional and material comfort.

Established by the Victims of Crime Act in 1984, the Crime Victims Fund is a source of federal funding for thousands of victim assistance programs across the country and for victim compensation programs in every state. The Crime Victims Fund Award recognizes individuals and teams for their outstanding work in pursuing federal criminal offenders and in imposing and collecting criminal fines, forfeited bail bonds, penalty fees, and special assessments that constitute the Crime Victims Fund.

Finally, the Federal Service Award honors individuals for their direct service to victims of federal crime. The award recognizes a service provider's, other professional's, or volunteer's exceptional contributions on behalf of victims in Indian Country, on military installations, in national parks, or in other areas governed by federal jurisdiction.

The award winners will be honored at a special ceremony commemorating National Crime Victims' Rights Week for 2004. Biographies and accomplishments of former award recipients can be found on OVC's Web site at www.ojp.usdoj.gov/ovc/ncvrw.

Nomination letters must address the questions listed under the award type above.

Nomination Submission Guidelines

1. Each nomination form must be accompanied by a nomination letter. If you, the nominator, are affiliated with an organization, your nomination letter should be submitted on official stationery and contain your signature and your position/title. No anonymous nominations will be accepted.
2. Each form must include the nominee's full name, date of birth, Social Security number, address, telephone number, and signature. If possible, please provide the nominee's e-mail address. If you are nominating an organization, provide the name, date of birth, Social Security number, contact information, and signature of the individual who would accept the award. Note: Please make sure the nominee's full name is spelled correctly and indicate in the space provided on the form whether another name (e.g., a nickname) needs to appear on the award plaque if the nominee is selected.
3. Your nomination letter should not exceed two single-spaced, single-sided, letter-size (8½x11") pages and should be typed using a standard 12-point font. This letter should reflect as much as you know about your nominee's accomplishments and services in supporting crime victims.
4. Please provide additional information about the nominated individual or program that should be considered in the review process. Supporting documentation, such as newspaper articles or résumés, can be attached if it is relevant to the nominee's contributions. Please note: Videos, bound publications, and notebooks should not be submitted. Only supporting documentation that is submitted with the nomination form will be accepted.

5. The entire nomination package, including supplemental information and letters of support, may not exceed 10 single-spaced, single-sided, letter-size pages. Nominations exceeding this limit will not be considered.
6. Please provide an original and two copies of the entire nomination package.

Note: An individual, program, or organization may be nominated for more than one award. However, a separate letter and nomination form must be submitted for each nomination.

Eligibility Guidelines

1. You may nominate one or more worthy candidates, including individuals, programs, teams, or a network or coalition of individuals and programs. Note: Please submit separate nomination packages for each nominee.
2. Nominees can be federal, state, local, or tribal professionals and volunteers in direct victim services and allied professions.
3. Candidates nominated but not selected in previous years are also eligible for consideration.
4. Elected officials are not eligible for consideration.

Deadlines for Submitting Nominations

Your nomination form and supporting materials must be received no later than October 31, 2003. Your nomination package should be mailed to

Office for Victims of Crime
Attention: National Crime Victims' Rights Week Committee
810 Seventh Street NW.
Washington, DC 20531

Please be advised that due to increased mail handling security measures, mail sent via the U.S. Postal Service (USPS) may be significantly delayed in reaching OVC. Nominators are encouraged to fax their nomination packages or to consider alternatives to USPS such as commercial carriers. If nominations are submitted by fax, only one copy of the package is required. If a nomination is delayed in the mail and does not reach OVC by the deadline date, it will not be considered.

Any Questions?

If you have any questions about the award nominations or selection process, please contact Bill Brantley at 202-616-3574 or e-mail him at brantley@ojp.usdoj.gov. The OVC fax number is 202-514-6383 or 202-305-2440.
